That depends. If Doug wants to make a trip out there again at some later date, he will need a briefing. I'm going to leave it up to him to decide if/when. It will probably not be anytime soon though, looking at his current travel schedule.

Hi, Diane:

No, unfortunately, we are not visiting Columbia Falls Aluminum tomorrow. We will be visiting the Anaconda Smelter Superfund site.

John Stroiazzo is a project manager with Glencore, the parent company of Columbia Falls Aluminum Company, the current property owner and potentially responsible party for the Anaconda Aluminum Columbia Falls Reduction Plant Superfund site. I have not yet seen a copy of the letter. The Remedial Project Manager is Mike Cirian. Let us know if you need follow up from the program.

Thank you,

Joe

Deb handed you a copy of a letter last week that came in from Columbia Falls Aluminum. It was requesting a future meeting and to tour the Anaconda Aluminum Co, Columbia Falls Reduction Plant site near Columbia Falls, Montana.

Are you by chance touring that site tomorrow? It would take care of this future tour request. Just in case, his name is John Stroiazzo and his number is (647)292-5767.
